

UNIVERSITY DEGREES

BACHELOR'S

The B.B.A., B.A. and B.S. degrees provide students with comprehensive knowledge in a specific field of study, or major. Students acquire a full understanding of all subjects that are to be related to their major.

- * 1,300 to 1,500 hours of study.
- * 130 to 150 academic credits.
- * Duration: 1 to 3 years.
- * 100% based on textbooks.

The course curricula are entirely based on published textbook material and adjusted to the student's personal goals. The final exam consists of several 20 to 35 pages reports based on each of the textbooks listed in the program.

Admission requirements:

- Admission is open for adults of over 23 years of age.
- Minimum transfer of 45 credits from previous education and/or professional experience to be accounted as equivalents of general education requirements.

MASTER

The Master's degree program provides students with a specialized training in a field of study, or major. Students acquire practical knowledge and specific skills in courses related directly to the student's concentration. The specialized and practical training that BIU offers through the Master's program has become almost compulsory at the workplace. This is the reason why alternative education programs enjoy so much popularity in the corporate world.

- * 700 hours of study (70 credits)
- * Above a Bachelor's program.
- * Duration: 6 to 12 months.
- * 70% textbooks + 30% Project.

The course curricula are based on published textbook material and a research project. The final exam consists of several 20 to 35 pages reports based on each of the textbooks listed in the program. In addition, the Master's candidate has to submit a 50 page project paper.

Admission requirements:

DOCTORADO PH.D.

The doctorate program offers students the highest level of specialization in any discipline. Students acquire highly specialized knowledge and full command of specific skills that they will apply and develop in arguing and defending their culminating work: the doctoral thesis.

- * 700 hours of study (70 credits)
- * Above a Master's program.
- * Duration: 6 to 12 months.
- * 30% textbooks + 70% Project.

Most of the credits earned at the doctorate level come from the thesis itself. The final requirement consists in submitting a 70 page thesis paper for review and evaluation by BIU authorities. Several 20 to 35 pages reports based on textbooks listed in the program may also be required.

In some cases, previously published material can be counted towards the degree.
